The Tampico papers before as manifest considerable alirin as to the result of Miramon's expedition, as well they might, though they consider Vena Crus in the most pericet state of defence. "More than 4,000 men," says the Prisses, "can be concentrated there at a motional sociee, in case of attack, without including the commands of Llave and Trejo, or the army of Oajaca, numbering 1,400 men, now before Orizava. "All counted, then, the liberals have for the defence of the city, and keeping Miramon in check, about 6,000 available troops. On the other hand, the Prisses does not think that more than 1,000 men can be sparred from the cities now held, only at the point of the bayones, by the reactionary party, and that Miramon will have to depend almost entirely upon the army with which he set out from the capital.

For many years the money in the hands of the State treasury has been deemed public property, and outside speculators have been in the habit of securing the use of the money intended to be kept in the vaults of the State.

The amount shown by the treasurer's books, which Mr. Brestlin should account for at the expiration of his term of office, was $1,000,000; of which sum Mr. Brestlin accounts for $201,000 by the failure of the banks in which that amount of money was deposited. Deducting this, there treamins a badance of $850,000, which Mr. Brestlin should have paid over to Mr. Gibson, his successor.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

THE ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT of the Medical Department of Georgetown College took place on Thursday evening last at the Smithsonian Institution. The lecture-room was crowded with an intelligent auditory. The exercises throughout were of a highly-interesting character, and the address of Dr. Early, so full was it of fitting advice and incentives to ambition, will long be remembered by the graduating class. Messrs. Reuben Cleary, D. C. Lucius Smith, Ohio; Jos. T. Howard, D. C.; Geo. W. Hill, Ohio; F. C. Christie, N. Y.; J. Wells Herbert, Md.; Dent Burroughs, Md.; E. Lyon Corbin, N. Y.; and Augustus Sparks, Iowa, separately received the degree of Doctor of Medicine, and the admiration of the assemblage, which was not the less acceptable when bestowed in the shape of a bouquet. These young gentlemen are now qualified to take their appropriate places in the walks of life, after the closing of their successful career as students, and we hope they will not, in their first few hours of gratified pride, forget that there is a higher object in life than the practice of their profession - the good of their fellow-men. We urge upon them the importance of treasuring up for future use the maxims laid down by Dr. Antisell in the closing address.
